Normandy Harbor Insurance Company Promotes Jayson Buechler

Ft. Lauderdale—Normandy Harbor, an innovative workers' compensation insurance carrier that offers customized plans to select Florida businesses, has named Jayson Buechler to the position of Senior Vice President. An insurance professional with significant experience in the workers' compensation market, Buechler joined Normandy Harbor in 2011 as Vice President of Underwriting.

"In his time here, Jayson has significantly contributed to the growth and overall financial improvement of our organization," says Normandy Harbor's President and CEO Therese A. Stevens. "He has worked diligently to build a solid underwriting, policy administration, loss control and marketing team that exemplifies the strategic vision and core values of our organization."

"One of the guiding principles here at Normandy Harbor is that we work with our clients in all aspects of their workers' compensation coverage," says Buechler. "That partnership philosophy has been critical to our success, and in my new role as Senior Vice President I look forward to strengthening and reinforcing that commitment with our clients and throughout our organization."

Normandy Harbor currently has $20 million in workers' compensation premium, $9.5 million in surplus, and a combined loss ratio of 88 percent, reports Stevens.
